About us

Established in 2013, Foxtonglobal initially focused on trading stocks, shares, and bonds. The company expanded into forex trading in 2015 and became one of the early adopters of cryptocurrencies with the advent of Bitcoin in 2014. Foxtonglobal is currently managed by a senior team with extensive experience in developing and implementing systematic investment strategies. The company emphasizes strong corporate governance and provides exceptional investor services to a client base that includes many of the world's leading institutional investors.

At Foxtonglobal, we offer strategic advice and solutions, including capital raising, risk management, and trade finance services for corporations, institutions, and individuals. Our team of seasoned professionals collaborates with clients to understand their unique needs and tailor investment strategies that align with their financial goals. We provide both long-term and short-term investment opportunities, ensuring flexibility and adaptability in an ever-changing market landscape.

In addition to our core services, Foxtonglobal places a strong emphasis on technological innovation. We leverage cutting-edge tools and platforms to enhance our trading capabilities and provide real-time insights to our clients. Our commitment to transparency and ethical practices underpins all our operations, fostering trust and long-lasting relationships with our clients.

Furthermore, Foxtonglobal actively engages in corporate social responsibility initiatives, striving to make a positive impact in the communities we serve. From supporting local charities to promoting sustainable business practices, we are dedicated to creating value not only for our investors but also for society at large.

STOCKS

A stock (also known as equity) is a security that represents the ownership of a fraction of a corporation. This entitles the owner of the stock to a proportion of the corporation's assets and profits equal to how much stock they own. Units of stock are called "shares." Stocks are bought and sold predominantly on stock exchanges, though there can be private sales as well, and are the foundation of many individual investors' portfolios.

These transactions have to conform to government regulations which are meant to protect investors from fraudulent practices. Historically, stocks have outperformed most other investments over the long run. They can be purchased from most online stock brokers.

BITCOIN MINING

Bitcoin mining is the process by which new bitcoins are created and transactions are recorded and verified on the blockchain. It involves solving complex mathematical puzzles using powerful computers, which requires significant computational power and energy.

Cryptocurrency is a form of payment that can be exchanged online for goods and services. Many companies issue their own currencies, often called tokens, which can be traded specifically for the goods or services provided by the company. Think of them as arcade tokens or casino chips. To access the goods or services, you'll need to exchange real currency for the cryptocurrency.

NON-FARM PAYROLL

The non-farm payroll (NFP) report is a crucial economic indicator for the United States, representing the total number of paid workers in the U.S. excluding farm employees, government employees, private household employees, and nonprofit organization employees.

The NFP report triggers some of the largest rate movements in the forex market upon its release. Consequently, analysts, traders, funds, investors, and speculators closely anticipate the NFP number and its potential directional impact. Even when the figure aligns with estimates, it can still lead to significant rate swings. It's essential to learn how to navigate these movements to avoid being adversely affected by the resulting irrational volatility.

Escrow

Escrow is a legal concept where a third party holds funds or assets on behalf of two other parties involved in a transaction. It serves as a financial instrument to ensure that all parties fulfill their obligations before the transaction is completed. Escrow accounts may include fees managed by agents who hold the funds or assets until they receive appropriate instructions or until predetermined contractual obligations are met. Assets held in escrow can include money, securities, funds, and other valuable items, making it a secure method for transactions.

Escrow involves a third party holding assets or funds until both parties in the transaction fulfill their contractual requirements.

It is commonly associated with real estate transactions, ensuring that funds are securely held until the property purchase process is completed. However, escrow can apply to various situations where funds or assets need to pass securely from one party to another.

In real estate, escrow is used not only during the purchase of a home but also throughout the life of a mortgage, ensuring ongoing security and compliance.

Online escrow services have gained popularity, especially for high-value transactions like art or jewelry, offering a secure way to complete transactions without direct exchange of funds until all conditions are met.

Escrow is employed in diverse contexts such as Internet transactions, banking, intellectual property, mergers and acquisitions, and law. For instance, a company selling goods internationally may use escrow to ensure payment upon delivery, safeguarding both buyer and seller interests. The buyer places funds in escrow with instructions for release to the seller upon satisfactory receipt of goods, ensuring mutual trust and security.
